M (Salentiny) S (Wescott). Unanimous.
3. Old Business
 - SimTutor
 - Several departments were interested. Has been purchased, including 5 licenses for faculty to use as needed through ER. Sim Center is the contact.
 - Builds interactive online modules. (Anything you want to make - not just for Sim-Center or Medical Program. Include quizzing and content; “choose your own adventure” type of interactive online activities.)
 - Teaching Academy
 - Pilot program for faculty development. Intensive cohort-driven model over course of one year. Variety of activities--online sessions, webinars, workshops, reflection activities, social media dissemination, one-to-one meetings with ID, course development.
 - Here are the members of the pilot 20-21 Teaching Academy (plus more information): <http://blogs.und.edu/for-your-health/2020/09/10/incoming-class-for-inaugural-tlas-teaching-academy-announced/>
 - ER Resources Faculty Development Needs Assessment
 - TLAS (teaching learning and scholarship) unit of ER conducted needs assessment for faculty development. Writeup appeared in For Your Health newsletter. More than 150 responses, representative of SMHS, included clinicians from around ND.
 - Marketing & visibility--calendar events, updated emails, twitter (Follow @SMHS_TLAS.)
 - Topics--big emphasis on clinical education (primarily MD); online learning; productivity
