QI Triangulation Table and Student Comments	Dr. Tinguely informed the committee that OMA met with four student representatives as recommended by Dean Wynne to discuss the 34 problems listed on the triangulation tables with the purpose of receiving help from the students in determining the root cause of those problems from the students’ perspective. The student comments were presented to DQIP along with the group’s consensus of the how the problem might be prioritized. Four priority categories were established and represented by color coding. Green= no concern determined. Yellow = minor concerns. Purple= serious concerns. Red = highest priority. Research Opportunities: Purple Dr. Basson acknowledged that the student concern with Sanford is real, however, he doesn’t believe that we can “fix” this situation. He also noted that the concern with REMS is valid. He mentioned that it’s possible that students in REMS may no longer be paid. Citing that some people feel it’s not fair to pay students as this is now going to be a requirement. He and Dr. Wynne will be discussing this tomorrow when they meet. He commented that many faculty members don’t want to take REMS students as it involves a great deal of time and effort. Faculty aren’t compensated for taking REMS students. One approach used in other schools is to offer funds to the lab where the faculty resides to cover the supplies that the students use. This isn’t currently done at SMHS and may want to

	Dr. Van Eck suggested a resource through the Eastern Virginia medical schools project for the consortium which is called “virtual family “. This resource focuses on diversity and is available to anyone within the consortium. Dr. Basson recommended reaching out to the social work program or nursing department to see how they are approaching this. Dr. Ruit stated he would contact the dean of the nursing department. Dr. Ruit also suggested that there may be others on campus who have expertise with diversity training that may be good resources, such as Dr. Casey Osaki, Department Chair, Associate Professor, Education, Health & Behavior.	Dr. Ruit will reach out to the dean of the nursing program and share his findings at the next meeting.
