St. Luke’s is a health care system based out of Duluth, Minnesota. St. Luke’s has provided medical leadership since its founding as the first hospital in Duluth in 1881. Even though we have grown into a regional health system serving three states, we have retained our renowned patient-centered focus. Our high-quality medical staff provides state-of-the-art care in one of the most beautiful settings in the United States.

Our current opening is for our outpatient clinic located in Mountain Iron, MN.

A current PT has said the following about working at the Hibbing Clinic:

“Every clinic and setting has a little different feel, and different populations that are served; but one thing that truly always shines through is the focus on “The Patient Above All Else.” Working in smaller outlying communities has also encouraged me to learn a variety of treatments. I have worked with babies with torticollis, high school athletes, workman’s comp. injuries, post-op orthopedics, balance/fall prevention, and vertigo (to name a few). I am always listening to what is needed in the community and trying to add new skills to meet those needs.”

This position would either full time or part time, and includes a generous benefits package. You would be working with patients of all ages and backgrounds. This provides continuous change of pace and learning opportunities.
