PRINCIPLES

OVERVIEW-- Employees, including faculty, staff and residents, and students of the University of North Dakota School of Medicine and Health Sciences may not accept gifts from pharmaceutical or device manufacturer representatives. This applies to food and meals except at Continuing Medical Education (CME) events in compliance with Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) standards for commercial support.

PROCEDURES

Procedures relating to interactions with vendors and/or sales representatives and general industry support procedures are as follows:

- I. Residents and students can meet with representatives only for educational purposes and under the supervision of a faculty member.
- II. Industry support for scholarships and stipends should be given to SMHS, which should have sole responsibility for selection of recipients.
- III. Industry support for CME must meet ACCME standards, references within the overview section above.
- IV. In healthcare facilities operated by the SMHS, pharmaceutical representative meetings with individual physicians must take place in designated non-public, non-patient care areas by appointment or invitation.
- V. SMHS employees must not participate for personal compensation in industry-sponsored speakers' bureaus.
- VI. Faculty, residents, and students must not allow any part of their professional presentations, oral or written, to be ghostwritten by industry.
- VII. Faculty consulting relationships with industry are subject to the University's Code of Student Life and Conflict of Interest Policy. In addition, such relationships must be reported to the Office of the Senior Associate Dean for Education.
- VIII. While these policies do not apply to volunteer faculty not employed by or in teaching settings not operated by the SMHS, such faculty are encouraged to support the policies set forth for students and residents and to demonstrate high professional standards in their interactions with industry representatives in teaching settings.

RESPONSIBILITIES

Employees/students/residents/faculty	Ensure students and residents are meeting with representatives for educational purposes only.
