PRINCIPLES

OVERVIEW-- This policy establishes the retention time for disposal of records.

1. Records, documents, and information created by and created for the SMHS are the sole property of the SMHS. Records should be retained in active office areas only as long as they serve the immediate administrative, legal, academic, research, and fiscal purposes for which they were created. The records manager for the SMHS will be responsible for developing the retention schedule for the SMHS. The retention schedule will be reviewed by North Dakota ITD Records management and then routed through the Records Management Task Force for appraisal.
PROcedures

I. The retention schedule specifies the criteria for the management of active records, provides for the systematic transfer of inactive records from the active storage areas to inactive storage areas, specifies the length of time records need to be maintained, and establishes the proper destruction method for those obsolete records.

The Records Manager will work with departments to instruct employees about the Records and Information Management Program and to assist them with the implementation of the Records Retention and Disposition Policy.

The SMHS’s Records and Information Management Program and Records Retention and Disposition Policy are of little benefit unless applied consistently and are kept up-to-date. Each department will designate a records coordinator for the department. The records coordinator will be responsible for ensuring that proper retention periods are enforced for the individual records. Each department is responsible for regularly reviewing the records and notifying the records manager of any needed updates or revisions to the retention schedule. The records manager will audit the Records and Information Management Program periodically.

Information concerning open records requests, litigation or investigations, of any kind, received by any member of the SMHS, should be given immediately to that person’s supervisor who should then notify the Chief of Staff in the Dean’s Office, UND General Counsel, and SMHS Records and Information Management and Records Manager. The records manager will notify the Dean’s Office and legal counsel. Upon notification, the records manager will suspend destruction of all pertinent records until notification in writing.
